Regarding claims 9, 13, and 14, please see applicant's remarks.

Regarding claim 8, the prior art of record is drawn to processing sound signals from a plurality of positions in a listening environment with reflections and without reflections, wherein the processing is conducted by filtering with a characteristic function including a head-related impulse response, wherein the signals are processed to provide binaural sound to a listener. However, the prior of record fails to disclose the characteristic function of the filter in respect to the eigen values, therein as claimed.

Regarding claim 12, the prior art of record is drawn to processing sound signals from a plurality of positions in a listening environment with reflections and without reflections, wherein the processing is conducted by filtering with a linear function including a head-related impulse response, wherein the signals are processed to provide binaural sound to a listener. However, the prior of record fails to disclose linear function comprising a temporal component including a plurality of eigen filters, therein as claimed.

Regarding claim 15, the prior art of record is drawn to processing sound signals from a plurality of positions in listening environment with reflections and without reflections, wherein the processing is conducted by filtering with a linear function including a head-related impulse response, wherein the signals are processed to provide binaural sound to a listener, calculating means, summers and time delays. However, the prior of record fails to disclose including a plurality of eigen filters, therein as claimed.
